Dear Mr. Goldstein,

Your copy of WHITEWASH II has been sent separately.

The memory-act you refer to seems to be that on one Dealer. The Commission checked this report out and concluded there was nothing to it. Based on what they knew, I agree. However, there are many cases where a man identified as Oswald was seen at Ruby's. I think these people did see someone, but that he was not Oswald. I also have unpublished information of this.

There are a number of people who can be said to resemble Oswald. Larry Crafard, who worked for Ruby, is said to resemble Oswald.

My fifth book, POST MORTEM: [illegible], has been written for several months. I cannot now afford to publish it. When we do, in accordance with your request, we'll write you. I now plan an additional two, one partly written and both researched.

Sincerely,

Harold Weisberg
